

John's Picnic

Today is Saturday. The weather is sunny and fine. John and his parents go to May Park. They bring apples, cola and some bananas. They feel happy. They are having a good time.

When they are eating their food, a monkey jumps onto their picnic table and takes away an apple and some bananas. John's mum feels angry and shocked. John feels unhappy. John's dad shouts, 'Stop! Don't take away our food!' He runs after the monkey.

In the end, a man comes and says, 'I can help.' The man and John's dad catch the monkey. Dad says, 'Thank you!' The man says, 'No need to thank me.' The man leaves. Dad takes their food. John and his parents feel happy. They have great fun again.
