

My Dream Job

My dream job is to be a nurse. Ever since I was a child, I have always helped people in need. Seeing them do well makes me feel amazing!

About six years ago, I scraped my knee. It was bleeding. My parents had to rush to see the doctor with me. A kind nurse asked me to answer some questions and helped me to heal my knee. I cried for a long time because it hurt a lot. But she waited patiently until I stopped crying. Then she used a bandage to wrap my wound. After that, she even gave me a lollipop and said I was a brave girl. That inspired me to be a good and kind nurse when I grow up.

Being a nurse will allow me to care for sick or injured patients. I want to help people in need. If I become a nurse, I will assist doctors, administer medication and provide health promotion. I hope I will provide comfort and support to patients during their most vulnerable times.

Becoming a nurse is not easy. In order to become a nurse, I need to take a lot of medication courses and study for a long time. I also need to be patient, caring, understanding and hard-working. I need to have a good relationship with patients so that they can trust me.

I am going to do my best to make my dream come true. I am going to join some medication courses for kids and learn more about nursing. I know it must be a long journey, but I am sure if I work hard and never give up, one day my dream will come true.
